SECTION 2: THE PROBLEM + THE MECHANISM

Headline:
Your Course Isn't Too Short. It's Too Long To Finish.

Most online courses have a completion rate between 5% and 15%.

That means for every 100 buyers, 85 never reach the lesson that gets them a result.

No result means no testimonial.

No testimonial means a harder next launch.

And nobody upgrades to your coaching program from a course they quit on lesson 4.

Most creators try to fix this by adding more. More bonuses, more lessons, more Q&A calls. It makes the problem worse.

The Finish Line Framework does the opposite. It has 3 parts:

The 11-Minute Rule: Every lesson under 11 minutes, with one action at the end.

The 48-Hour Win: A quick result within 2 days of purchase, so students trust the course.

The Next Step Bridge: Your final lesson hands students straight to your next offer.

SECTION 3: WHAT'S INSIDE

Headline:
Here's Everything Inside The Finish Line Kit

SECTION 4: PROOF

Headline:
What Creators Saw After Their Next Cohort

68% average completion rate | 4.1x more upsell buyers | 73% fewer refund requests

"Completion went from 14% to 61% in one cohort. My $997 coaching upsell went from 2 buyers to 11."
Marcus T., Photography Course Creator

"Refund requests dropped from 9 to 1 on my last launch. That alone paid for the kit a hundred times over."
Aisha B., Spanish Language Teacher

"I didn't re-record anything. I cut my 47-minute lessons into 4 pieces and renamed them. That's it."
Ben L., Excel Course Creator

SECTION 5: ABOUT PRIYA

SECTION 7: FAQ

Do I need to re-record my course?
No. The framework works on the videos you already have. Most creators just split and rename lessons.

What platform does this work with?
Any of them. Kajabi, Teachable, Thinkific, Skool, GoHighLevel, or a private YouTube playlist.

How long does setup take?
Most creators finish in one weekend. Longer courses take about 2 weekends.

My course is only 5 lessons. Will this help?
Yes. Short courses usually have the biggest drop-off on lesson 1, and Module 3 fixes that directly.

Is this a subscription?
No. One payment of $37 and it's yours.
